

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Life In Four Seasons*, THE SHORT FILM THAT INSPIRED A NATION, SCREENS FOR SEVEN DAYS ONLY AT LAEMMLE THEATRE

SANTA MONICA, CA - September 11, 2019 - ZONIA today announced that the Stefan Apolostolov directed Life in Four Seasons, one of the most successful crowd-funded short films released in 2019 that galvanized over four thousand people of a nation to participate, will have a Special Limited Theatrical Release from September 13, 2019 at 4PM until September 19, 2019 at Laemmle Monica Film Center, 1332 2nd Street, Santa Monica, CA.

This inspired short speaks for itself when it says, “You will reach a breaking point, when no sign of hope is left, when time stops, and you want to give up... In that moment of silence, you’ll hear it, a familiar sound, a sound that reminds you of who you are, where you came from, and why you can never give up.”

Through the skillful direction of the Bulgarian native, Stefan Apolostolov, this coming of age tale of a boy (Ivaylo Stafnaov) displays the perfection of the crafts of directing, cinematography, and storytelling. The audience feels transported to the breathtaking landscapes of Bulgaria and walk in the boy’s shoes delving through Bulgaria’s history searching for the courage to be a man.

Driven by the desire to steer the next generation into a meaningful, connected life of positive actions Director Apolostolov inspired thousands of his countrymen and women to donate their time and talents, while financing the film through an ambitious GoFundMe crowdsourcing campaign.

Executive Producers, Vesela Apostolova and Yariv Lerner in collaboration with Co-Producer Noah Berlow present in this world over-stimulated with screens, violence, and tragedy a short film that sways its viewers to live a life of depth and weight, embracing the beauty of the world.
